alabaster works

Within the luminous mass of alabaster, we enter an inner world that seeks to convey the emotions inspired by personal experiences in particular places.

Light is an essential element that defines and shapes the form. It penetrates and guides us along paths traced within, through sequences of interconnected spaces, creating an interplay of light, translucency, and shadow.

bronze works

Through the lightness and structural freedom that bronze allows, I seek an interplay of planes and agile, ascending, dynamic structures.

A sculpture that reflects the spirit and communicates to the viewer what has deeply moved me.

drawings

Through ink drawings on paper, we move from one space to another through passageways: places experienced, explored, and remembered.

Aesthetic experiences that I later translate into sculpture, filled with light and expressed through alabaster and
